9th centuryHungarian conquest

Hungarian people from the Urals arrived in the Carpathian Basin in 895-896, then conquered the territory and settled down. One hundred years later our first king, Stephen I, founded the Hungarian state and integrated the country into the European Christian nations.

15th centuryMatthias Corvinus and the Hunyadi era

One of Hungary's most glorious eras was the time of the Hunyadis, in which Matthias Corvinus the Righteous reigned as the greatest Hungarian king ever, leading Hungary to become one of the most important Central European countries.

16th centuryTurkish occupation

In 1526, after the calamity of the Battle of Mohács, the Ottomans divided the country into three parts: the Habsburgs in the western and northern parts; Turks in the central area; and the Principality of Transylvania in the south-east as the stronghold of Hungarian culture and independence.

19th centuryRevolution and War of Independence of 1848-49

Following other rebellions in the period of the Spring of Nations in Europe, the Hungarians revolted against the Austrian emperor. The revolution was suppressed by the Habsburgs with the help of the Russian Czar and in 1867 a compromise with the Habsburgs was reached, establishing the Austro-Hungarian Empire.

Did you know?

People in Hungary wear a red, white and green circular badge called a 'kokárda' on 15th March in commemoration of the revolt in 1848.

World War II

After entering the war in 1941, Hungary suffered enormous loss again, including a death toll of approximately one million citizens. The Soviets drove the Germans out of the country in 1945 and stayed here for the next four and a half decades, incorporating the country into the Soviet bloc.

The revolution and freedom fight of 1956

Along with many others in the Eastern bloc, the revolution of '56 is one of the symbols of resistance against the Soviets during the cold war. Although the revolution was suppressed (with approximately 3,000 casualties), it was a clear message to the Soviets that their plans were not sustainable.

Democratic transformation after the fall of the Soviet bloc

The rapid changes in the Soviet bloc and other international developments led to the fall of the Berlin Wall on 9th November 1989, leading to political changes in the entire eastern part of Europe. The countries became free from Soviet rule and Hungary became a republic for the third time. The first democratic, multi-party elections were held in 1990.

Joining the EU

After joining NATO in 1999, Hungary became a member of the European Union in 2004 along with 9 other countries. In the first half of 2011, it held the Presidency of the Council of the European Union for the first time.

The Táncház (dance-house) model is a special method of teaching folk dance and preserving intangible cultural heritage: participants learn dances from tradition bearers by observation and imitation, with the accompaniment of live music.

Busó Festivities

This 6-day annual festival in Mohács, located in southern Hungary, marks the end of winter each February. The festival is named 'busó' in acknowledgement of the awesome-looking costumed men wearing wooden masks and large sheepskin coats. According to legend, the roots of the festival date back to the Battle of Mohács in 1526, when villagers dressed up as fearsome monsters to frighten away the occupying Turkish forces.

Pálinka

Pálinka is a generic name for the fiery fruit brandy often distilled by farmers from home-grown fruits, the most common ones being plums, apricots, apples, cherries and pears. Hungary's most famous pálinka distilleries can be found in Kecskemét.

Porcelain of Herend

Herend offers luxury hand painted and gilded porcelain. Now amongst the biggest porcelain manufactories in Europe, the Herend Porcelain manufactory was founded in 1826 in a small Hungarian village. In 1855, the international exhibition in Paris brought the highest appreciation for Herend.

Matyó Embroidery

The Matyó community lives in and around the town of Mezőkövesd. The heritage of the community consists of the ethnographic group's living traditional culture, which is embodied by their characteristic style and cultural identity. This folk art is characterised by special floral embroidery filling on textile and ornamented objects.

Makó Onion

The town of Makó, situated in south-eastern Hungary, is famous for its onion which is an important ingredient of traditional Hungarian cuisine. An international onion festival is organised in the region each year, which lasts for three days.

Hungarian Paprika

Paprika powder is one of the most widely used spices in Hungarian cuisine. Due to the favourable climate and geographical conditions, Hungarian paprika has a bright red colour and a distinctively rich flavour. Kalocsa and Szeged in the southern part of Hungary are the heart of paprika production.

Language

The official language of the country is Hungarian, which forms part of the Finno-Ugric language family. Hungarians call their language "Magyar". Although Hungary is located in Central Europe, Hungarian is not related to any of the major European languages. Hungarian is spoken by 10 million people in Hungary, but there are sizable populations of Hungarian speakers outside the country.

Although your studies are in English or in another foreign language, it is a good idea to learn a few basic words which may be necessary in your everyday life here in Hungary. It will be extremely well-received by native Hungarians, so don't worry about making mistakes!

TIP

Find out more about ways to develop your Hungarian language skills in the Learning Hungarian section. Use our mini dictionary at the back of this guide as a quick reference guide.

Climate and weather

For many international students the Hungarian climate can be very different from that of their countries, as Hungary has four different seasons. Whilst summers are warm, winters can be really cold; average temperatures range from -4 °C in January to 26 °C in July.

Hungary is in the temperate zone and has a relatively dry continental climate. The country is protected from extreme weather conditions by the surrounding mountain ranges, the Alps and the Carpathians.

It's not always easy to find the right clothes to suit the weather, but the beauty of each season is definitely worth the effort.

The structure of the Hungarian higher education system

Hungarian higher education has been representing academic excellence for more than 650 years. The first university was founded in 1367 in Pécs, the Southern region of Hungary.

Higher education studies are offered at two types of higher education institutions, egyetem (university) and főiskola (college). Programmes of higher education are offered at three levels – Bachelor, Master and Doctorate – which are usually referred to as the three-cycle system according to the European Bologna system. Besides these integrated and cyclic programmes there are some integrated (one-tier) programmes, where the Bachelor level and the Master level is unified: veterinary medicine, architecture, dentistry, pharmaceuticals, law and medicine.

Entry and admission requirements in Hungary also follow the standards of the Bologna Process. This means that a Bachelor's degree must be obtained to have access to Master's and PhD courses. In order to be admitted to a Hungarian higher education institution, prospective students must demonstrate that they meet certain requirements. Although there is a general system of entrance, the entry requirements may differ at certain higher education institutions, so always check the conditions in each institution before applying.

Universities and field of studies

Today, there are 65 higher education institutions in total ranging from minor universities of applied sciences to top research universities. There are 28 state-funded, 11 privately-funded and 26 church-funded institutions to choose from. As a result of the institutions' internationalisation process, there are endless study opportunities for international students: they offer more than 500 courses in English, German, French and other languages. The foreign language programmes are of a high standard and tuition fees are very favourable. The range of study fields students can choose from is wide:

The largest institutions offer courses in all study fields, while smaller institutions have programmes in a few specific areas. Students can earn double degrees at many universities through joint degree programmes in which the Hungarian university works together with another European higher education institution. In case of applying for these programmes – students enrol in both universities and obtain a double degree from both institutions.

Study Finder

The Study Finder database on the Study in Hungary website provides information about study programmes in English and other foreign languages offered by Hungarian higher education institutions. On this website, you can browse through more than 500 programmes – so you can see the “bigger picture” about what courses in which fields you might choose for your further studies.

ECTS Credit System and Grading Credit System

The European Credit Transfer System (ECTS) in Hungary ensures the transparency of the learning, teaching and assessment processes by facilitating recognition of your learning achievements and qualifications in many countries throughout the European Higher Education Area. The ECTS ensures that the grades you have achieved can be accepted by other European and non-European institutions in other countries.

At the end of each semester, the student's study achievement is evaluated with a grade in the Hungarian five-grade scale. For incoming international students, a Transcript of Records must be issued that contains a table of completed courses, credits, the Hungarian grade and the ECTS grade.

The number of credits you have to achieve might differ from one institution and course to another in an academic year or semester, so you may need to approach your local international coordinator to obtain the relevant information about this.

The Hungarian academic credit system is an ECTS-compatible system. The calculation of the credits is based on the number of working hours of the students (one credit means 30 student working hours, on average).

At the end of the semester, the student's study achievement is evaluated with a grade (5-excellent, 4-good, 3-medium or satisfactory, 2-sufficient or pass, 1-fail). The ECTS conversion table ensures transfer procedures between the Hungarian academic credit system and the ECTS. The recognition of courses completed abroad is based on the credit transfer regulation.

For incoming international students, a Transcript of Records is issued at the end of the semester, which contains the code and title of the completed courses, credits, grade, and its ECTS-compatible grade.

UNIVERSITY GRADE	EQUIVALENT ECTS GRADE
5 (excellent)	A, B (excellent, very good)
4 (good)	C (good)
3 (satisfactory)	D (satisfactory)
2 (pass)	E (sufficient)
1 (fail)	FX, F (fail)

Recognition of diplomas

There is no automatic EU-wide recognition of academic diplomas, which means you need to apply for this procedure to continue your studies in another EU country.

If you obtain your degree in Hungary and wish to study in another EU country, you need to go through a specific procedure to have your degree recognised in the other country. A "Statement of Comparability" of your earned university degree can be issued in your home country or in the host country of your studies. This certificate shows how your degree compares to the ones you can earn in the other country.

Before starting a recognition procedure, go to ENIC's website (European Network of Information Centres) to obtain more information on the process and the required documents. All the national institutions are listed here so you can contact the responsible authorities.

 www.enic-naric.net » higher education institution

Recognition of qualifications

You will also need to go through a recognition procedure if you would like to practice your profession in the EU, outside Hungary. On the official website of the European Union you can find out if your profession is regulated, in which case you will need full recognition of your qualifications.

After applying, you will receive an acknowledgement of your application from the authorities and will have to make a final decision within

- 3 months: in the case of doctors, general care nurses, veterinary surgeons, dentists, pharmacists or an architect benefiting from automatic recognition of qualifications.
- 4 months: for all other professions.

In case of rejection, they must provide an explanation as to why your application was rejected.

Other funding options

Those who want to find funding options as self-financed students can take student loans with a favourable interest rate from the Hungarian Student Loan Centre.

To apply you need to be under 40 years of age and must hold a permanent residence or immigration card. To help with repayment of the loan, an income-based repayment scheme is available. This means that the amount of money a student needs to pay back and when it needs to be repaid depends on how much the student is earning.

Another option to fund your university studies is to get a student job through student-job agencies. According to Hungarian law a student is entitled to have either a full-time (8 hours) or a part-time job (4 or 6 hours), however scholarship contracts may control the conditions under which a student can work. The minimum wage for unskilled work for 8 hours per day is around 430 EUR while the salary is approximately 560 EUR for skilled jobs.

Working while studying

Some of you might decide to work part-time during your studies or in the summer holiday to finance your living costs or to gain valuable work experience. Currently, depending on your citizenship, there are different rights and obligations.

- > If you are a student coming from an EEA state (member states of the EU and Norway, Switzerland, Iceland, and Liechtenstein), there is no limitation regarding the working hours and you need to hold a registration card.
- > If you are a citizen of a country that is not part of the European Economic Area (non-EEA state), you can be employed during your studies with a residence permit for study purposes and work 24 hours a week during your study period, or 90 days or 66 working days outside your study period.

CAREER OFFICES

Most higher education institutions in Hungary have their own career offices where students can obtain information regarding available jobs. These offices offer job opportunities through databases as well as organising programmes for students looking for jobs, and they help you with career planning and management.

Internship

International internships are becoming more and more popular as they provide students with valuable real-life experience during their studies. Various options to do internships in Hungary include:

Dual education

Gaining practical experience in Hungary is provided by dual education, which is a unique system where university students have the chance to spend a few months at different companies or organisations to gain practice. Dual education means that a student is enrolled at a university while completing a traineeship at a company.

Programmes that may include dual education:

- > agriculture
- > engineering
- > economics
- > natural sciences
- > information technology

By taking part in this programme, you have the chance to gain some insight into the internal operation of a company and gain experience through professionals of a given field. By the end of your studies you will receive a significant amount of work experience, which will help you start your career and find a job. Information on programmes offered in dual education can be obtained from your university's website.

This city is worth visiting if you are a wine lover since Eger is the original producer of the famous Bull's blood wine. The city is full of beautiful buildings built in the 18th and 19th century and despite its small size it has a considerable amount of attractions. VESZPRÉM

Veszprém is a quiet town only a few km from Lake Balaton. This city was built on five hills and has many ancient buildings such as the Cathedral of St. Michael. This city was given the title of "the town of queens" as Hungarian queens became patrons of the aforementioned cathedral. This town is very close to Lake Balaton, which is definitely worth a visit during the summer as well as the Bakony Hills and the Balaton Uplands National Park where you can take a day trip. The Street music festival is annually organised here in July so if you love listening to music, visit these concerts performed by Hungarian and international musicians. Pannon University was founded here in 1949 and offers all possible fields of study through 6 BA, 12 MA and 9 PhD courses.

GÖDÖLLŐ

If you like green, panoramic areas but would also like to stay close to Budapest, Gödöllő is a fine choice to continue your studies at. In the 50s Gödöllő became the country's agrarian centre due to the relocation of the Agrarian University there in 1950.

Gödöllő is not only famous for its university but also for the Royal Castle which was built by Antal Grassalkovich, among many other monuments in Gödöllő. Szent István University's Gödöllő Campus is located in the heart of the town.

Application timeline

Study in Hungary announces the actual application call on its official website so if you wish to get the latest information about our available programmes go to "studyinhungary.hu".

Entry and admission requirements

Institutions in Hungary rank the applications based on applicants' previous studies and the grade point average (GPA), also experience in work and research might be required by some institutions.

In order to be admitted to a Hungarian higher education institution, prospective students must demonstrate that they meet certain requirements. Although there is a general system of entrance the entry requirements may differ at www.studyinhungary.hu

 studyinhungaryofficial

certain higher education institutions therefore always check the conditions in each institution before applying.

Application process for self-financed students

Fee-paying students can submit their applications either electronically through the FELVI system (which requires advanced level Hungarian) or by mailing their documents directly to the institution. Although the application procedure for enrolment may vary at different institutions and courses, in general the process should be the following:

✓ 1. Find your university and programme

Visit the website of the chosen higher education institution and choose the programme that suits you.

✓ 2. Check entry requirements and deadlines

Before you make your decision, always read the entry requirements for the degree programme you are applying for. Application period and exact dates for self-financed foreign students usually vary from one institution to another so first contact the chosen university to find out any relevant information. ✓ 3. Apply online

Fill in the online application form of the programme on the website of the chosen university, then upload or submit the required documents. After submitting your papers, you may be required to arrange an appointment for a Skype interview. Contact the university or the college to find out if there is anything else you need to do.

✓ 4. Wait to receive confirmation from the university

If you are accepted, you will get a notification from your university around late July and the contact person from the institution will inform you regarding further steps. Fee-paying students are usually required to transfer (part of) the tuition fee prior to the enrolment in the academic period.

Campus life

As well as focusing on your studies, it is also important to take care of your mental and physical health.

Sport is an important ingredient of a healthy lifestyle. Most Hungarian higher education institutions provide opportunities to do sports in a team or as an individual. Many of these opportunities are offered as part of the curriculum. Institutions have their own swimming pools and sports centres, which provide great sporting opportunities before or after a day of sitting in lectures.

By joining these classes, you are not only making sport part of your everyday life but you can make new friends, improve your skills by cooperating with your mates and gain experience of what "team spirit" really is!

Some universities offer you opportunities to engage in cultural activities and reflect on your unique experience through art. Become a member of a university choir, dance or drama group, or even an orchestra! You can also put yourself to the test by entering university poetry or photo competitions.

Student networks and mentoring

Almost every Hungarian university has its own student network or targeted mentor system to help foreign students and scholarship holders to become integrated into the local community. If you are interested, get in touch with them or with the international organisations via the links below.

Why should you join a youth organisation during your stay?

LIVING IN HUNGARY

First steps in Hungary

RECOMMENDATIONS FROM INTERNATIONAL STUDENTS

1. Don't miss the orientation week, it is very helpful!
2. In case you have already missed the orientation week, go to the international office of your institution and ask about any missed information.
3. Visit your international coordinator, check that everything is OK with your documents.
4. Always be open minded! Use the first couple of weeks to meet new people; connect with professors and classmates, too.
5. If available, try to join a Hungarian class to enhance the daily routine in Hungarian.
6. The initial medical check-up is necessary. Whenever something is wrong, you can go back and visit the GP who carried out your initial check-up. Become acquainted with the doctor-visiting procedure before any real emergencies occur.
7. Always check the expiry date of your residence permit and arrange an appointment to apply for a new residence permit card if needed. Especially when you want to travel to another Schengen country, you have to make sure the validity covers the travel.
8. Always bring your insurance card with you when travelling, in case of emergency.
9. If you lose your passport you can contact your Embassy in Budapest. The address, telephone numbers and working hours are usually available on their website.
10. Buy a bike or check whether community bikes (like BUBI in Budapest) are available in your university town.
11. Explore your city, collect as many memories as possible!
12. Try local food. You will not regret it!

Accommodation

There are several kinds of accommodation alternatives in Hungary but the cheapest one is usually a dormitory belonging to the students' homes section of the university you attend. One advantage is that it is cheap, you will always be surrounded by friends and great communities are often created by living together.

On the other hand, renting an apartment is also a feasible option if you prefer privacy. This way, you can get your personal insight of how Hungarians live. Cost can be very different depending on living in or outside of the capital: HUF 70,000–150,000 or HUF 120,000–200,000 in Budapest a month plus overheads. The landlords usually require you to pay a deposit in advance, which usually equals a minimum of 2 months' rental fee (this will be paid back when you move out.)

If you need help, contact your international co-ordinator or mentor at your university, who will guide you in the right direction. There are usually dedicated Facebook pages. Some students find agencies useful in the process.

Wherever you live, the most important thing is to find a place where you can study comfortably and it is a plus if you can share it with your new friends.

Public transportation

Hungary has an efficient network of public transport including buses in all cities, trolley buses and trams in bigger cities, metro services plus suburban railway lines called HÉV lines and boat services in Budapest.

Passes are available for various lengths of time (e.g. monthly) and are valid for each form of transport. Tickets that can be used on any form of transport are available at stations or street kiosks. Single tickets are valid for a single journey without transfer on the whole length of a line, but multiple tickets are needed when your journey involves changes.

If you regularly use public transport, it is economically more viable to buy a monthly or yearly pass. Students with valid student card are entitled to reduced rates.

BY CAR

If you are coming from an EU Member State to Hungary, you do not need a Hungarian driving license to drive in Hungary but you need to keep all car documents, your driving license and passport with you to identify yourself when stopped by a police officer. But if you plan to stay in Hungary for more than a year and you have a driving licence issued by a non-EEA State you can apply to have the document exchanged. Hungary has a zero tolerance policy towards drink-driving offences.

BY TAXI

When taking a taxi, you should avoid hailing unmarked taxi cabs. You can hail a taxi in the streets, order by phone or an app. In Budapest, licensed taxis appear in distinct yellow.

BY BIKE

You can easily buy a brand new bike in many big stores or even a good quality old one in some second-hand bike shops. Another option is renting from a company or using a bike-share scheme such as MOL BuBi in Budapest or UniBike in Debrecen. Whichever option you choose our environment will be grateful.

Currency

The forint (HUF) has been the local currency in Hungary since 1946. Here is a little help to see the differences between different currencies (valid in May 2019) but you should always check the actual exchange rate.

1.0 USD = 293 HUF

1.0 GBP = 371 HUF

1.0 JPY = 2,7 HUF

1.0 EUR = 327 HUF

1.0 CNY = 42 HUF

1.0 RUB = 4,6 HUF

Banknotes come in denominations of 500; 1,000; 2,000; 5,000; 10,000 and 20,000 and six different coins are in use: 5, 10, 20, 50, 100 and 200 forint coins.

Major bank cards (Visa, Mastercard) are accepted in most places but there are cases when you can only pay with cash. ATMs and currency exchange offices are widely available.

You can also open a bank account as the non-residential account service is designed especially for foreign nationals. Before opening an account, it is advisable to ask the chosen bank about the documents required. Banks are usually open between 8.00–16.00 on weekdays.

Health insurance

Emergency treatment is free for every foreigner. However, make sure you have health insurance when you arrive in Hungary that covers you for the duration of your stay. Different regulations apply depending on your citizenship.

EU citizens are insured on the basis of the European Health Insurance Card when they are in another member state and are, from the point of view of social security, entitled to the same rights and have the same obligations as citizens of that given member state.

Students from a non-EEA country should arrange for health insurance on their own in their home country.

Recipients of a Hungarian Governmental Scholarship (like Stipendium Hungaricum) are entitled to have a social security card that entitles them to free medical care.

Medications

The Hungarian word for pharmacy is 'Gyógyszertár' or 'Patika'. These are located all over the cities, usually close to the city centres, supermarkets and, in some cases, nearby universities as well.

Opening hours may vary from pharmacy to pharmacy but usually they are open till 7 pm or 8 pm on weekdays. Drug stores, like DM and Rossmann, carry a minimum amount of light medicines, for example pain killers.

Legal stay

After your arrival in Hungary, you need to ensure your legal status in Hungary. Depending on your home country, different rules apply. Generally, EU/EEA member state students need to obtain a registration card, other students need to obtain a residence permit. Both documents are issued by the National Directorate-General for Aliens Policing (Országos Idegenrendészeti Főigazgatóság in Hungarian).

 www.bmbah.hu/en

Student card

After your arrival in Hungary, it is obligatory to request a student card that will certify your student status. This will entitle you to the same reductions as Hungarian students: on public transportation tickets, museum entrance fees, Youth Hostel accommodation, library memberships and various other discounts.

Your first step is to submit your application at one of the offices of the Hungarian Integrated Customer Service (Kormányablak in Hungarian). Then you need to upload the personal ID you received to get your temporary card. Please consult with a coordinator or an administrative staff member from your university for further steps on how to obtain the permanent plastic card.

Embassies and cultural institutes

While living in a foreign country it is important to know where to turn for help in need or for connecting with your culture to cure your homesickness.

National holidays

There will be some days when you don't have to go to school and others when you do but you might find others in "holiday mode". The reason behind this is that they are celebrating Hungarian holidays.

Here is a list of the public holidays:

1st January	– New Year's Day
15th March	– Anniversary of the Hungarian Revolution's outbreak of 1848
Easter	– Usually in March or April from Good Friday through Easter Monday.
Pentecost Monday	– 50 days after Easter. Usually in May or June.
1st May	– Labour Day
20th August	– Saint Stephen's Day (founder of the Hungarian state)
23rd October	– National Day in memory of the 1956 revolution
1st November	– All Saints' Day
25-26th December	– 1 st and 2 nd day of Christmas

...and a few more that most Hungarians celebrate:

1st Sunday in May	– Mother's Day
6th December	– Saint Nicholas Day
24th December	– Christmas Eve
31st December	– New Year's Eve

Did you know?

Hungarians not only celebrate their birthday, but their nameday (in Hungarian: névnap) as well – often as popular as a person's actual birthday.

10 things on your bucket list

Visit Budapest, the capital city of Hungary! Budapest is one of the most popular cities in Europe with its rich history, beautiful architecture, excellent panorama and vibrant cultural life. All we have to say is: Buda castle, Parliament, Hero's square, river Danube. Can you continue the list?

The Hungarian "sea", Lake Balaton is a lovely place at all times of the year but most find it the prettiest in the summer. The biggest lake in Europe is 600 square metres and it is surrounded by the Balaton uplands, one of the most famous vine regions in Hungary.

While we are on the topic of vine, we should not forget Eger, which is a pretty nice city to walk around, with its castle and impressive basilica. But the real reason to visit Eger is to spend a day at the nearby caves and touring the wine cellars.

Have you heard of Buda Castle and Vajdahunyad Castle? In Hungary, we have many more castles to visit, so here is a short list. Once you are there, you will surely be gobsmacked! Festetics Palace in Keszthely, Grassalkovich Palace in Gödöllő, Esterházy Palace in Fertőd and Károlyi Castle in Füzesrádvány await you!

Hungary has many delicious dishes to try. What about not just eating but cooking? Learn the recipe of lecsó, the famous stuffed cabbage or cocoa rolls – your family will love your new gastronomical skills.

Mark your accomplished
journeys :)

The river Tisza has always been important to Hungarian poetry, just like many cities on the river side. So once you get the chance to go there, do it in a kayak and join an organised trip on the river Tisza. It will be a "close-to-nature" experience that you will never forget.

It is hard to find the best thermal spas in the country but the good thing is that the list is pretty long so you can choose to visit several of them. Széchenyi Spa and Gellért Bath might be the most popular in Budapest, but Lake Hévíz is the world's largest biologically-active natural thermal lake, which can give a unique experience, just like the Cave Bath and sauna park in Miskolctapolca. Yes, real thermal water in a real cave.

Sziget Festival is one of the most popular music festivals in Europe. The week-long festival attracts more than 450.000 people from all over the world. Actually, VOLT Festival in Sopron, EFOTT in Velence and CAMPUS Festival in Debrecen can also be an exciting part of your studying in Hungary experience.

Have you ever seen a Hungarian embroidery? Or an authentic Hungarian folk dance maybe? If you liked it, stop watching and start doing it. Visit a cultural centre, a folk art festival or go to a dance and be part of the Hungarian tradition by enjoying these lovely activities..

Last but not least: enjoy your stay, travel a lot, meet as many people as possible and make new friends. After you have finished your studies, visit Hungary again, come back with your family and show them the beauty of this amazing country.

Hungarian cuisine

To fulfil the living-abroad experience you must give it a go and try the very delicious and diverse Hungarian cuisine.

Hungarian cooking is actually quite difficult to define. It tends to use paprika, black pepper, several different spices and often onion. Traditional Hungarian dishes are primarily based on meats, seasonal vegetables, fresh bread, dairy products, cheeses and fruits.

In Hungary, a typical breakfast may consist of fresh bread, cold sausage type minced meat products (such as kolbász or szalámi), some vegetables or jam. Lunch is the main meal of the day, usually consisting of three courses: soup is followed by a main dish and a dessert.

We are quite sure that you have already heard of the famous Hungarian gulyás soup. The soup was accredited as a hungaricum in 2017 although it has been well-known for a long time by many international people coming to the country. It is made from vegetables and beef but also can be made in a vegetarian version. Another typical national food is fisherman's soup called "halászlé", a soup of paprika-spiced broth and thick cuts of river fish. Since Hungary has the river Tisza, the river Danube and several lakes, it is easy to get fresh, tasty fish. For hot summer days, light fruit soups are also great.

Knowing how to make a few dishes from your country is a great way to introduce your new friends to your home culture.

We couldn't make this list without mentioning "lángos" which is a plate-sized sheet of fried dough that is usually smothered with sour cream and cheese, the popular stuffed cabbage called "töltött káposzta", which is large leaves of cabbage, stuffed with meat and rice, cooked and then smothered with sour cream (yes, we love sour cream) or the well-known "lecsó", the paprika vegetable stew of onions, tomatoes and peppers with variations including sausage and egg.

If you prefer sweet foods, try the Hungarian Dobos cake, a chocolate buttercream-layered sponge cake, topped with crystallised caramel and covered on the edges with nuts, or the incredibly popular Túró Rudi, a dark chocolate bar filled with sweetened cottage cheese, available in different flavours or with jam fillings as well. Desserts often contain different fruits or jams since Hungary has internationally famous vineyards and orchards full of apples, pears, plums and other fruits.

If you feel like having a drink after a good meal, taste one of the fine Hungarian wines. Hungary has 22 wine regions, the most well-known among foreigners are the Tokaj, Villány, Balaton Highland and Eger regions, but it is also worth visiting other regions for their special local wines.

If you like shots, you should not miss the famous Unicum and pálinka, either.

HUNGARIAN CHICKEN STEW RECIPE

- 2 tablespoons pork fat or Crisco
- 1 onion, chopped
- 2 garlic cloves, minced
- 1 tablespoon paprika
- 1 large tomato, peeled, seeds removed, and chopped
- 1 1/4 pounds (600 grams) boneless, skinless chicken breasts, cut into bite-size pieces
- 1 red bell pepper, chopped
- 1/2 cup water
- 1-2 teaspoons sea salt

In a deep pan, heat the pork fat over a medium heat. Once heated, add the onion and cook, stirring occasionally, until softened. Stir in the garlic and cook until just fra grant, for about 30 seconds.

Remove the pot from the heat and stir in the paprika. Add the chicken pieces and return the pot to medium heat. Cook, stirring occasionally, until the edges of the chicken are browned. Mix in the tomato, bell pepper, and 1/2 cup water. Season with salt. Once the liquid begins to boil, reduce the heat to a simmer, cover, and cook for an hour, until the chicken is cooked through and tender. Season with additional salt if needed.

Serve hot with Nokedli or pasta.

World Heritage Sites

Besides high quality education, Hungary offers many breath-taking places which are definitely worth a visit. You may never get enough of your beautiful host city but we can recommend many other places for weekend trips and holidays.

Today Hungary has eight locations on the World Heritage List. Below you can find a brief description about them, so all you need to do is to put on your shoes and go!

Budapest: Banks of the Danube View, Buda Castle Quarter and Andrásy Avenue

This site has the remains of monuments such as the Roman city of Aquincum and the Gothic castle of Buda. This quarter encompasses the area on the Buda side and attracts locals as well as tourists with its medieval style. Besides the Buda Castle, Matthias Church, and the Fisherman's bastion the fascinating view of the Pest side behind the river Danube is a good reason in itself to visit here – but the quarter often offers exhibitions, concerts and other amazing programmes.

On the Pest side, Andrásy Avenue was added to the list as it presents a unique architectural image of Budapest, connecting Elizabeth Square in the capital's innermost area with Heroes' Square. Now, you can choose from hundreds of exclusive shops, fancy restaurants on Andrásy Avenue. Once you are there, do not miss stopping at the Hungarian State Opera House.

The Old Village of Hollókő and its Surroundings

Are you planning a trip to the Hungarian past? Visit Hollókő! The old part of the village Hollókő, a settlement nestling in the Cserhát Hills, has preserved its distinctive traditions to this very day. Hollókő was the first village to be declared a World Heritage Site. The history of the village goes back to the 13th century, when after the Mongol invasion a castle was built on Szár Hill.

The village is not just an open-air museum, which exhibits folk traditions, but also a living village where traditions and everyday life go hand in hand. If you want to get the full-experience, go to Hollókő at Easter and be part of the living tradition by taking part in games and wearing the most authentic costumes.

Millenary Benedictine Abbey of Pannonhalma and its Natural Environment

You might not have heard of Pannonhalma before, but here you can find out why you shouldn't miss it out from your Hungarian bucket list for travelling.

The Archabbey is one of the oldest historical monuments in Hungary; the first Benedictine monks settled here in 996. The 1000-year-long history of the Archabbey is detectable in the succession of architectural styles of the monastic buildings (the oldest dating back to 1224), which house a school and a monastic community to this day.

People visit not just because of the special atmosphere of the place but also because of the "Lavender Days" festival which attracts many. Concerts and creative workshops are held in the huge herb garden of the Archabbey.

Hortobágy National Park

Hortobágy is a 6-thousand-hectare reservation park that presents how the land looked and how herdsmen and their animals lived here before the modern ages. Hortobágy was the first national park opened in 1973 and it is the largest protected area in Hungary. It is not only engaged in the conservation of wildlife but also plays an important part in environmental education, as well as organising field trips in collaboration with the University of Debrecen. The park is just a few kilometres from Debrecen and it's very easy to reach by train or by car.

Lake Fertő (Neusiedler See)

Lake Fertő is around 20,000 years old. Situated on the border of Austria and Hungary and it is recognised as one of the most significant natural waters in Europe and considered Europe's largest salt-water lake. Even Celts and Romans lived here in the ancient times and nowadays it is the common territory of Austria and Hungary. The ethnic groups that followed each other in the area had a strong impact on the area's cultural landscape.

Tokaj

Tokaj's name must sound familiar to all wine lovers around the world since this region is Hungary's greatest vineyard extending 11,000 hectares. The area has been protected since 1737 due to its landscape, ecosystem and tradition. The Tokaji aszu wine is accredited as a Hungaricum and it is the oldest natural sweet wine in the world. Tokaj is full of wine-tasting opportunities, wine museums and amazing landscapes awaiting your discovery.

Did you know?

The world's very first vineyard classification based on quality was established for the region of Tokaj in 1700. Through a royal decree by Prince Rákóczi, a system of classes were set for 173 vineyards.

Culture

Vibrant youth life, concerts, festivals, exhibitions, cinema, rich history, exciting present: all that in Hungary!

Whether you live in the capital or another university town you can choose from a wide range of cultural programmes every season of the year.

The best places to learn about Hungarian culture, art and history are exhibitions. The Hungarian National Gallery (www.mng.hu/en) has the largest public collection of fine arts in Hungary but the Hungarian National Museum (www.hnm.hu), the Museum of Fine Arts (www.mfab.hu) and the Museum of Ethnography (www.neprajz.hu/en/) definitely makes this list, too.

Hungarian cinema and theatre culture is quite popular; besides Hollywood movies, Hungary offers a wide selection of art films from all over the world. You can choose from various films, dubbed or subtitled, depending on your knowledge of foreign languages.

There is a very rich and active theatre life throughout the country. The season starts in September and ends in May. To be on the safe side, you should book your tickets well in advance for the play of your choice.

Classical ballet and contemporary dance are both widely appreciated in Hungary. If you like dance, you should not miss the performances of Győri Balett (Győr Ballet) or Pécsi Balett (Pécs Ballet), or those performed by the ensemble led by Pál Frenák or Yvette Bozsik.

Going to the Opera House (www.opera.hu) at least once is a must. Not just because of the imposing building itself, but also for the high quality performances.

Festivals are also essential part of cultural life, and your student experience as well. VOLT Festival in Sopron, Campus Festival in Debrecen and EFOTT in Velence attracts thousands of students from all parts of the country. Sziget Festival is one of the most popular music festivals in Europe, which is held in Budapest. Otherwise, national and international artists are often invited for other gigs all over the country.

If you prefer learning something from the culture of the Hungarian past visit Dance Houses or Community and Cultural Centres.

The dance house movement started in the 1970's with the aim of preserving traditional folk music and dance. Given that this is a shortcut to understand another nation without even speaking the language, dance houses are quite popular among foreigners. Community and cultural centres offer various kinds of programmes to please everyone: club afternoons and evenings, workshops, concerts, sports, etc.
